Applying for a job

I thank you for showing an interest in this post.

Your application form plays an essential part in all stages of the selection process: it determines whether or not you will be shortlisted for an interview and acts as a basis for the interview itself.

The following information contains simple guidelines to help you to complete the application form as effectively as possible. Please note that the Council does not accept CVs.

|-------------------------------------------------------------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 1. Obtain the full job description and person specification | Every post advertised is supported by a job description and person specification, so make sure you obtain these from the relevant department as it lists the duties, skills, knowledge, qualifications and experience required. |
| 2. Think about | What job you are applying for Why you are interested in the job What the job entails Would it be a good career move |
| 3. Filling out the form | Read it through. Look at your experience and make a list of all your skills and experiences that are relevant for this job. |
| 4. Look at your experience and career history | What evidence have you got that you have the necessary skills, knowledge and experience? Consider any relevant experience you have acquired outside work through community/voluntary/leisure interests. Tell us your strengths. Write your career history. Do not give too much detail but make sure you explain the main features of each relevant job you have had. Check that dates are in the right order. |
| 5. Do a rough draft | Write out the form in rough to avoid mistakes and repetitions. This gives you the opportunity to clarify your ideas. Make sure your reasons for applying for the job are as relevant as possible. Make sure you address each separate requirement on the person specification. |
| 6. Complete the form | Complete all sections on the form. Your form should be written in a concise way. Ensure it is well presented to create a good impression. For example, does it contain any spelling errors? Are there any questions you have left unanswered? The supporting statement (Section 6 of the application form) is very important. Make sure that you complete it or the person specification form, where supplied; include examples of how you meet the selection criteria. On some on-line application forms the selection criteria has been set into the document which you must address in full. Type it or use black ballpoint/ink. Use additional paper if necessary. |

Please note:

In section 9 which is headed "Relationship", you are asked to declare if you are related i.e. the parent, grandparent, partner, child, stepchild, adopted child, grandchild, brother, sister, uncle, aunt, nephew or niece of an existing Councillor or officer of the Council, or the partner of such persons. You are also asked to declare if you have a friendship with, or a business connection with any Councillor or an employee of the Council.

As regards friendship, a friend can be described as someone who is well known to you and for whom you have feelings of liking, affection and loyalty. It is a closer relationship than simply being an acquaintance. For example, if you are both members of the same charity, club or association, this is not likely, on its own, to mean that you have a friendship.

If you take the answers to the following questions together, this might help you to decide whether or not a friendship exists:-

- Do you meet often/regularly?
- Where do you meet?
- Do you regularly attend the same social functions?
- Do you meet at each other's houses?
- Are you close or connected in other ways?

You must answer honestly. Providing any misleading or false information to support your application or canvassing Councillors or Senior Officers of the Council directly or indirectly for an appointment will disqualify you from appointment or if appointed will render you liable to dismissal without notice.

7. Send your form

Send your completed form in on time.

Make sure you have returned it to the correct address.

Always keep a copy.

Equal Opportunities and what it means in Wandsworth

Wandsworth Council is an Equal Opportunity Employer

What does this mean?

It means:

- that the Council is committed to ensuring that every employee is treated fairly: in day to day work, promotion and training.
- that every job applicant is given an equal chance when they are considered for jobs.
- that the Council aims for its workforce to reflect the composition of the local community.
- that the Council aims to end discrimination in respect of different racial groups, women, sexual orientation, religion or belief and people with disabilities in its workplaces.

What action is being taken?

The Council is already doing a number of things to make equal opportunity a reality. They include:

- monitoring the way jobs are being advertised and filled by examining procedures regularly to make sure that people are selected, promoted and treated on their individual merits and abilities.
- standardising recruitment procedures across all departments.
- introducing and running training courses in skills and personal development to improve opportunities and to help managers and employees to gain skills and knowledge to be able to effectively meet the needs of the community.
- running courses for managers and staff on cultural awareness, equality and diversity.
- developing a programme of action with regard to the Race Equality Scheme and Equality Standard. It is known as the Corporate Equality Plan.
- carrying an equal opportunities declaration on all job advertisements.
- offering job share, term-time employment and flexible hours of working where appropriate.
- making the Council's workplaces more accessible for people with disabilities.
- encouragement wording on all posts graded PO5 and above.
- reviewing existing policies and procedures to meet with new legislation.
- using the 'two ticks' disability symbol on all job adverts (both paper media and website) which means:-
 - interviewing all applicants with a disability who meet the minimum criteria and considering them on their abilities;
 - making every effort when employees become disabled to make sure they stay in employment;
 - putting mechanisms in place to discuss with employees with a disability how to develop and use their abilities;
 - making disability awareness training available to all employees;
 - reviewing commitments annually to progress future plans.

Some background facts

Borough

Our aim is to deliver high quality services at a competitive price.

The Council is a £500 million a year business operation. We hold 30 separate Government Charter Mark awards for excellence – achieving more than any other council in the country since the scheme began.

And we match this with the lowest average council tax bills anywhere in the UK.

Wandsworth is a full-service authority with major responsibilities in education, social services, housing and leisure. It tackles key urban issues of planning, traffic, crime and regeneration and works closely with its partners in the police and the local NHS.

Many of our services are delivered directly through a workforce numbering 6,500 staff. We also work extensively with the private sector and other agencies. There is no dogma that says private or public provision is best.

What matters for us is what works best for our residents.

The borough is the biggest in inner London with a growing population in excess of 260,000. It varies from the leafy avenues of Putney to the high rise, high density estates of north Battersea. We enjoy five miles of Thames river frontage and 1600 acres of parks and commonland and suffer from some of the busiest roads in the capital. There is a vibrant ethnic and cultural mix. Around one in five residents are black or Asian with the biggest minority communities in the south of the borough in Tooting. The business sector is especially dynamic with more start-ups among small and medium-sized enterprises than anywhere else in the capital – many of them serving the fast growing IT and media industries.

It's a borough with a buzz – and that makes it a great place to work. Accommodation as in most parts of London can be expensive but there are still affordable areas for first time buyers and good public transport connections. You can get to almost anywhere from Clapham Junction!

Council

The Council consists of 60 Members who are elected every four years representing 20 Wards. The full Council meets about every six weeks. The Council currently has 50 Conservative and 10 Labour members. The parties hold group meetings to decide on strategy. These meetings are party political and council officers do not attend. A body called the Executive is then responsible for implementing these policies. The Executive consists of the Leader of the Council and currently seven other members appointed by the Leader. The Overview and Scrutiny committees have been appointed to scrutinise the decisions of the Executive and to assist in policy development.

Some of the Council's committees, Education and Standards, include some co-opted members. For further details of the composition and function of the Executive and the various committees appointed by the Council, please see how decisions are made on the Council's website www.wandsworth.gov.uk

The Council's Corporate Performance Plan (CPP) contains information which tells all residents, service users, partners and businesses how the Council is performing and how it compares to other London boroughs. It also looks forward to the year ahead and shows what the Council hopes to achieve. All this information is backed up by performance indicators and targets which allow residents to monitor our success or otherwise. Some of these indicators are set nationally by the Government, others reflect local priorities. All Councils are required to publish their results and Wandsworth is traditionally one of the first.

Some background facts

Quality Approach

The Council adopts a quality approach which covers all aspects of service planning and delivery, including surveys to find out customers views of our services; a full procedure for responding to complaints; annual improvement plans; and training aimed at developing basic customer care skills for all staff. The umbrella title of this approach is 'Delivering Excellence' and aims to build on the strengths of the Council's staff and managers and implement quality improvements.

Mission Statement/Corporate Objectives

As part of the Corporate Performance Plan the Council has agreed the following mission statement to:-

- Deliver the highest quality of service.
- Give the best value for money.
- Be responsive to customer and client needs.
- Deal with customers and clients with honesty and integrity.
- Work in partnership with key agencies.

Also as part of the CPP the following corporative objectives have been agreed:

- 1 Delivering high quality, value for money services
- 2 Improving opportunities for Young People
- 3 Making Wandsworth an attractive, safe and healthy place
- 4 Providing care and support for those in need – including elderly people, those with physical or mental disabilities and those in housing need
- 5 Building a prosperous and vibrant community

Further detailed information on these objectives can be found on the Wandsworth website www.wandsworth.gov.uk

The Chief Executive and Directors' Board

The Chief Executive is Gerald Jones. He is also the Director of Administration.

As head of the paid service, the Chief Executive is in overall charge of the services provided by the Council.

The Directors' Board comprises the Chief Executive and the other six departmental Directors (Education, Finance, Housing, Leisure and Amenity Services, Social Services and Technical Services). It meets fortnightly to discuss key corporate issues and is responsible for overseeing the discharge of Council policy.

Some background facts

Education Department

The Director of Education is Paul Robinson.

The Assistant Director is John Johnson.

The Organisation of the Education Department

The Education Department, which has undergone a number of reorganisations during the last 12 years, is structured along fairly traditional lines. The three Divisions are as follows:-

- Pupil and Family Services Division – headed by the Deputy Director - which, as the name implies, focuses on those activities relating to individual pupils and their families. A large part of the Division's work is tied up with special needs. Early Years is a growing speciality.
- Planning and Resources Division – headed by the Assistant Director Planning & Resources - where the emphasis is on the LEA's regulatory and financial role, although a significant number of services to schools are provided by the Division e.g. personnel, finance and information and communication technology.
- Quality and Evaluation Division – headed by the Assistant Director – Quality & Evaluation - which includes Performance and Standards, Curriculum and Professional Leadership and Research and Evaluation Unit, the Learning Resources Service, the Integrated Support Service and Adult and Community Learning.

The Directorate comprises the Director and the 3 second-tier officers, who each carry responsibility for one of the 3 Divisions within the Department.

Elsewhere in the Department, sections have delegated financial responsibility under the budget-holders initiative, and operate as separate cost centres. All sections prepare annual budget plans, contribute to the preparation of the a range of plans setting out priorities and tasks for the coming year and work to strict performance targets. Preparations for a new Children and Young Persons Plan will begin in 2005/06. Many parts of the Department operate on a quasi-commercial basis and trade directly with schools, both within the Borough and, to a lesser extent, outside. The Directorate meets each week and there are meetings between the Directorate and third-tier officers 3 to 5 times a year. Divisional meetings, chaired by the appropriate second-tier officer, usually take place every 1 or 2 weeks.

The Education Service

Nursery Education

There are 50 nursery classes attached to primary schools (34 community, 12 voluntary-aided and 4 foundation), and 3 separate nursery schools offering a mixture of part- and full-time places. The Council also runs an Early Years Assessment Centre which is where the Department's Portage Scheme is based. The Council's policy is to provide a nursery place for every three-year-old in the year in which they become four years old.

Primary Schools

There are 56 primary schools (54 JMI, 1 infants, 1 junior) taking about 17,900 pupils. 19 of the schools are voluntary-aided (9 Church of England, 9 Roman Catholic and 1 Muslim). 32 are community schools, and 5 are foundation. Children generally enter reception classes in primary schools in the September of the school year in which they become 5.

Some background facts

Secondary Schools

There are 10 secondary schools taking about 10,230 pupils. There are 2 foundation co-educational comprehensive schools (one of which has achieved Language College status and one which is adjacent to the Council's City Learning Centre); 1 foundation co-educational school which admits a proportion of its annual intake by reference to general ability and has achieved Technology College status; 1 foundation all-girls school which admits a proportion of its annual intake by reference to general ability; 2 voluntary aided Roman Catholic denominational (11-16) schools (1 co-educational, the other all-boys); a community technology college for which an Expression of Interest is being prepared for conversion to an Academy; a community co-educational school specialising in art and design and foreign languages (and which has acquired Art college status); and an all-boys leading edge community school which admits a proportion of its annual intake by reference to general ability; and a new voluntary-aided Church of England secondary school offering specialist provision in music. The Council has good links with the ADT City Technology College in the Borough which is planning to convert into an Academy. In September 2003 the Council established with the Southwark Diocesan Authority a voluntary-aided church of England secondary school offering specialist provision in music.

Special Schools and Units

There are 10 special schools in the Borough. 3 of them offer boarding places and 1 is located outside the Borough in Kent. 2 schools for the hearing and visually impaired offer provision on a regional basis. In addition there is 1 secondary and 1 primary pupil referral unit and units for the hearing impaired attached to primary and secondary schools. The Council also runs a primary language centre for children with literacy and language difficulties and is currently has recently setting up Autistic Spectrum Disorder Units. Following extensive consultation over the last 2 years as part of a Planning for Inclusion initiative significant changes to special education provision are underway.

Further and Adult Education

There is 1 further education college and 1 sixth form college located in the Borough. There is an extensive adult education programme with funding channelled from the Learning and Skills Council by the Council. South Thames FE college, delivers a large part of this programme on behalf of the Council under the umbrella of the Federation Agreement and contract. The Council also runs the Putney School of Art and Design, which is managed by the Leisure and Amenity Services Department but commissioned by the Education Department. In recent years the number of providers operating in the adult and community education field has increased significantly.

Education Business Partnership (EBP)

There is a thriving EBP known as Business and Education Succeeding Together (BEST). It manages a range of contracts and works closely with the Central London LSC and the Connexions Service.

Working with Schools

There is a good working relationship between the Council and all schools. A Headteacher Standing Conference has been established which meets at least 3 times a year. One of these meetings (in the spring) is a joint meeting with senior members of the Education Department and the Cabinet Member for Education. There are also termly meetings with Heads according to phase. The Executive of the Standing Conference meets with the Education Department Directorate at six-weekly intervals. This working relationship extends, not only to those schools maintained by the Council, but also to the City Technology College, the independent sector and FE/ Sixth Form colleges. Schools, regardless of their status, come together with the LEA to discuss, for example, issues such as admissions funding and major policy areas, as well as other matters routinely forming part of the Standing Conference agenda.

Some background facts

There are also termly briefing meetings for chairmen and vice-chairmen of governing bodies and regular meetings between the Cabinet Member for Education and chairmen of governors.

Staff and Budget

There are over 250 centrally-based, and approximately 3,400 school-based staff (1,335 teaching and 2,065 support) in the education service.

The overall education budget is currently around £129m, which accounts for 48% of the Council's net revenue budget.

The Council's Role

The Council's education policies have traditionally had three interrelated aims:-

- (a) to introduce the widest range of parental and pupil choice;
- (b) to bring the supply of school places into correspondence with demand; and
- (c) to raise educational standards in Wandsworth schools.

It is fully behind the ambitions of the Children Act to improve outcomes for children and young people and has taken significant practical steps to reshape provision in order to realise these ambitions. In Battersea, for example, schools and the Health Service are working with the Council to reconfigure services in a pilot project that could pave the way for delivering Children's Services in the future. Additionally the first part of a significant review of Early Years provision is underway and practical steps being taken to embed extended school provision within the borough.

At the heart of the Council's education policies is the intention that parents and pupils should have the widest possible choice, and that pupils should be taught, whenever appropriate, in like-minded groups. This means supporting selection, specialisation and differentiation where appropriate.

A further feature of Council policy is the emphasis on innovation and creativity. Significant changes to the education service have taken place in the Borough in the last 12 years as part of the process of improving the quality of education and raising standards in schools. This is set to continue. The Council has a crucial role in striving for educational excellence within an increasingly enabling environment. The successful candidate will be expected to play a major part, both in operating within this diverse and changing environment and in developing and implementing Council policies.

Terms and Conditions (former APT&C staff)

Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974

The Act states that after a suitable period of time (called the rehabilitation period) has passed, you may treat a conviction as if it never happened. These are called “spent” convictions. Appendix A lays out the time periods that apply for different offences and specifies some convictions which can never be regarded as “spent”.

Certain criminal convictions may be relevant to the job you are applying to do for the Council. For this reason, it is important that the Council is aware of any convictions which may affect your work; subject to the over-riding provisions of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act.

If you are shortlisted for interview you will be asked to declare all relevant unspent convictions. Appendix B lists offences and the groups of staff to whom they apply. In addition, you should note that posts working with children and/or vulnerable adults are subject to the requirements of the Rehabilitation of Offenders Act 1974 (Exceptions) (Amendment) Order 1986 which means that you must declare all convictions whether spent or unspent. Your attention is drawn to the final paragraph of the job application form. In particular the sentence: “Providing any misleading or false information to support your application... will disqualify you from appointment or, if appointed will render you liable to dismissal without notice”.

CRB Disclosure checks

In accordance with the Council’s legal obligations if the post you are applying for requires a CRB disclosure check, a copy of the Council’s policy will be supplied to you. A copy of the CRB’s Code of Practice can also be made available on request or can be viewed at www.disclosure.gov.uk

Politically Restricted Posts

Under current legislation certain posts have been identified as being politically restricted. As a result of which certain Council employees have been disqualified from becoming or remaining a member of any local authority in Great Britain (except a town parish or community Council) as from the 1st May 1990 and from becoming MP’s and MEP’s, in addition these employees may not canvass for, act as agents or officers of, or speak or publish material on behalf of political parties.

The terms and conditions of employment will include a statement as to whether or not the post is politically restricted.

The four main categories of staff identified as being politically restricted are as follows:-

1. Chief Executive.
2. Statutory and non-statutory chief officers (i.e. all Directors and Heads of Service) the deputy chief officers and persons whose posts are in the Council’s Scheme of Delegations to Officers.
3. Posts on a grade of spinal column point 44 or above of the APT & C salaries scale.
4. Other posts where the Council decides that the duties are “politically sensitive” in that they involve either of the following:-
 - (i) giving advice on a regular basis to the Council itself, to any committee or sub-committee of the Council or to any joint committee on which the Council is represented;
 - (ii) speaking on behalf of the Council on a regular basis to journalists or broadcasters.

Terms and Conditions (former APT&C staff)

Satisfactory references, medical clearance and other checks must be completed before a formal offer of appointment can be made.

Interview Expenses

Interview expenses may be paid in certain cases (receipts should be produced). Claim forms can be obtained from the relevant personnel sections.

No expenses will be paid in the event of a candidate withdrawing his/her application or refusing an offer of appointment.

Expenses will not be paid on the day of interview.

Staff Car Parking and the Council Services Transport Plan

There are very few parking spaces at the Town Hall and a Controlled Parking Zone covers the Wandsworth Town area. Access to free on-street and off-street parking is therefore severely limited.

The purpose of the Council Services Transport Plan is to assist and encourage staff who normally use their car to get to work to adopt alternative travel arrangements. Cycling, use of public transport, car sharing, motorcycling and walking are encouraged. Interest free season ticket loans are available to staff who are not in a probationary period.

Please note that these general details do not set out the terms and conditions of any contract of employment you may subsequently be offered. If you are successful you will be given an official statement of particulars defining your terms and conditions of service.
